A statewide Textbook Summit was held at the Legislative Office Building as a follow up to the work of the Taskforce, and the result may have some implications for academic libraries statewide.

Al Hopkins reported that the application closing date is this Friday. The Nominations Committee will meet after today’s board meeting. The committee received 27 nominations. There was not application from a student from a school or college or parent of a K-12 student. The committee will send its recommendation to the board on Friday by email and bring it back to the December 7th board meeting. The new appointees will be invited to the December meeting but will be “official” as of January 1st. At that time the board will also have to elect a new chair and vice chair.

b. 2006 Meeting Dates – William Sullivan
Bill Sullivan distributed CDLAB meeting dates for the 2006 calendar year. The dates are scheduled for February 1, April 5, June 7, August 2, October 4 and December 6. The meetings are to be held at the Middletown Library Service Center at 1:00 p.m. unless otherwise stated.
8. Reports
Bill Sullivan reported on the announcement of a full-time electronic resource coordinator position in the Digital Library office. The position is to replace Jane Emerson who will retire at the end of this year. Jane will stay on for a couple months to help train the new person. Bill distributed the October issue of the iCONN Times, the iCONN Learning Activities, which were substantially updated by Sharon Clapp to be in sync with database changes, and Using iCONN to increase the challenge level for all students, which Steve Cauffman revamped into a visually appealing, 4-page color brochure with more detailed database descriptions. The latter will be distributed at CECA, CEMA, and in a direct mailing to all library media specialists. It was another successful year for iCONN at the Durham Fair, essentially mirroring the experience of the first year. Sharon Clapp distributed a report that included positive comments from attendees, including some teachers and library media specialists, who were excited to hear about iCONN for the first time and how it could help them. Sharon also thanked everyone on the Board (Pat Daragan and Alana Meloni) who worked at the booth that weekend. The public awareness survey questions are being pre-tested with 10–15 individuals, after which UCONN will begin administering the survey. Jane Emerson is drafting the final version of the RFP for the Tier I databases, which will then be submitted to DoIT for final review before being issued. iCONN will be exhibited at CECA (using a wireless Internet connection) on October 24 and at CEMA on November 7. Gail Hurley distributed letters to solicit updates to reQuest to all reQuest data providers. ReQuest ILL bookstraps should be available soon. Steve Cauffman is working with Saxton B. Little Free Library and Auto-Graphics to pilot a future enhancement that would enable ILL transactions to be converted into circulation system transactions using the NCIP communications protocol. Bill distributed a copy of his September 16 iCONN update presentation to the Community College Council of Librarians, and the agenda for the October 21 symposium Trendspotting: A CLC Symposium on the Future of Libraries at which Jane Emerson will give an update on iCONN.

b. Love Your Library (Barnes & Noble) Project – Sharon Clapp
Sharon Clapp distributed a Love Your Library (LYL) press release announcing a fundraising effort of the Connecticut Library Association, Connecticut Library Consortium and the Connecticut State Library with Barnes & Noble. Barnes & Noble will donate 15% to 25% of every sale made (if accompanied by a LYL voucher) at Barnes & Noble stores on Friday, December 2 and Saturday, December 3. The donation will help to underwrite iCONN.

c. Schools Toolkit on CD-ROM Overview – Sharon Clapp
Sharon Clapp demonstrated the schools toolkit, which she developed with the help of Art Skerker. It will be distributed to all library media specialists, and includes promotional materials, learning activities, documentation/training information, technical support information, and hot links to the iCONN website.

Kendall Wiggin reported on the Spanish Language Outreach Program that will train Connecticut library staff to increase their knowledge and skills to reach out to Spanish speakers in their local communities. He also reported on the latest development of the Connecticut Education Network (CEN). Based on the survey data received from libraries, CEN has asked vendors to begin quoting installations at the first 45-50 sites and will begin ordering services for the first wave of sites. If a DSL service is not available the library will receive a T1 line. Laurie Brooks, the State Program Officer from the Institute of Museum and Library Services, the agency providing Library Service and Technology Act funds, visited Connecticut. Ms. Brooks came to Connecticut to review our internal procedures for administering the LSTA program and also to look at some successful library programs funding through LSTA. The State Library has once again joined the Collaborative Summer Library Program for Summer 2006. All public libraries in the state are eligible to participate.
